Thinking of gift ideas is no fun for anyone. Sure, finally finding the best gifts for your girlfriend, sister, or brother is a great feeling, but there's always that one family member that's the toughest to shop for. Yup, we're talking about dear old dad.

We all know that dad that seems to have everything and want nothing, but the idea of showing up for Father's Day dinner empty handed just feels simply wrong. To show the dad in your life how much you appreciate him, think outside the box with a unique gift for dad that he'll will never expect, like a cool, personalized Father's Day gift idea. You can also go for a more practical gift—one that he can use daily for work or relates to one of his favorite hobbies. But if you're not going for a funny gift that'll give him a good laugh, opt for a really thoughtful gift, especially if the dad in your life is celebrating Father's Day for the first time.

To help you figure out the gift idea to give him this Father's Day, we put in the hard work, searching through endless gifts for dad on Amazon and other top retailers, to find the very best gift ideas any dad in your life, from stepdads to new dads.
